June 2017

Welcome to the intersection of wound + care.

Every patient has a story. Every wound does, too. As you know from your everyday experience, caring for wounds is not only a science – it’s an art. It’s a job that requires specialized training and expertise, as well as instinct and intuition. As a company with a division dedicated to the advancement of skin and wound care solutions, we’re innovating the next generation of effective wound care solutions to empower and inspire clinicians everywhere. From revolutionary skin protectants and next-generation wound care dressings, to smart compression systems and best-in-class medical tapes, we have the solutions and support you need to provide the best possible care. Because this is where science meets art.

Kindness Matters – Every Day

Your story matters.

Acts of kindness happen all around us. Why not take a minute to capture that moment and share it?

Your story could be about lifting a patient’s spirit, or about a colleague that always goes above and beyond. Or maybe you have an idea on how to inspire kindness. Whatever your story, we’d love to hear about it. And we know other people would, too.
